Avalanche readers flood NBC show's switchboard

NBC's Unsolved Mysteries has agreed to take a look at the Perry Corlew case following a deluge of phone calls from Avalanche readers.

The Avalanche published a request by the Corlew family to call the show in its Thursday, November 5, issue. By Thursday night, officials from the show contacted Lynnette Corlew, asking her to stop the phone calls.

"They were absolutely flooded with telephone calls," said Lynnette. "They promised to process the case and asked us to stop the phone calls. I told them we're not going to tell anyone to call it off. I'm going to continue to call myself to let them know how important this is to us."

Perry Corlew has been missing since March 15, 1974. On June 2 of this year, the family sent a box to Unsolved Mysteries containing information about the case along with thousands of signatures requesting the Corlew mystery to be aired on the show. The November 5th Avalanche article told readers the box still had not been opened by NBC. The Corlew family urged readers to write or call Unsolved Mysteries, PO Box 10729, Burbank, California, 91510, Attn. Story Dept. (1-800-876-5353) and request that the Corlew box be opened and the case broadcast.

"They told us they have to think of ratings, whether the case might be solved, and a couple of other things," said Lynnette. "We will keep people updated, especially if they decide to come to the community to film."

Perry, the son of Dewey and Roberta Corlew of Grayling, was a senior at Grayling High School when he mysteriously disappeared.

Voters to choose between building addition or buying portables

Crawford AuSable School District residents will vote on building an addition to the Grayling Elementary at a Tuesday, December 15, election.

The school district is asking for $8,730,000 or about a half mill to build an addition on to the Grayling Elementary. Along with the addition to the Grayling Elementary school, the half mill will also pay for adding classroom space in the current Grayling Elementary, improving the Frederic Elementary media center, relocating the football field, and adding technology for instruction to the three elementary buildings, the middle school, and the high school.

The cost of the half mill to a $44,000 home owner will be $11 a year for 20 years.

Crawford AuSable Superintendent Kent Reynolds said if the December 15 millage fails, the school district will probably have to order at least three portable classrooms.

SCHOOLS OUT OF ROOM

Currently, all the classrooms at the Grayling Elementary are filled. Because there is no more room at Grayling Elementary, three classes of Grayling fourth graders (about 75 students), two classes of Grayling third graders (about 55 students) and 12 primary room Grayling students are being bussed to Frederic Elementary each day.

Frederic Elementary has all its classrooms filled. The Grayling Middle School has all its classrooms filled and is overcrowded above capacity. Two fifth grade classes had to be moved to the Grayling High School this year from the middle school.

In addition to the fifth grade classes, a preschool class also has to meet at the high school. The high school has also run out of space. This fall, the home economics cooking room has been turned into a classroom with math, history, and government classes meeting among the stoves and sewing machines.

Reynolds said because of the bigger classes coming into the school system at the lower levels, replacing smaller graduating classes, the overcrowding crunch has reached a point where the school district desperately needs the bond issue to pass.

"That's why the school board has split the district's needs into two phases. We absolutely have to have this December 15th issue pass to handle our current overcrowding problems."

HIGH SCHOOL CRUNCH

Reynolds said the overcrowding will hit the high school in the fall of 1996. The school district will come back to the voters asking for another one half to one mill to add 8-10 classrooms, a gym, and cafeteria on to the current high school.

"The school board heard the voters say the amount of money was the problem with Vision 2000. This is the best way to solve the overcrowding problems while keeping the cost down to taxpayers," he said.

Along with the half mill building proposal on December 15, the school district is asking for 1.6 mills for three years, 1994, 1995, and 1996, to operate the addition to Grayling Elementary. This millage would not start until 1994 the year the building opens.

The cost of the 1.6 mills for a $44,000 home owner is $35.20 a year for 1994,

In previous elections, the school board said they would not begin to build unless both the bond issue and the operating millage passed. For the December 15 election, the school board says it will start to build the addition even if the operating millage fails.

The reason for the change is a state proposal to alter the school property tax system. There is a chance the school property tax reform could wipe out the need for the extra operating millage.

If nothing happens at the state level, the school board said they will not open the new school without the extra operation millage. The school property tax reform being proposed would not change the need for local school districts to vote on spending money to build new schools.

If the addition on Grayling Elementary is approved, the Grayling High School football field will be relocated next to the current high school on the north side. The light poles, home bleachers, concession stand, goal posts, and other parts of the current field will be moved to the new location and be ready for action for the 1993 season. The new football field would include a track.

Building on the new addition would begin in 1993 and some of the renovations at Grayling and Frederic Elementary could take place during the summer of 1993 and 1994.

Reynolds said the school district previously asked for a one mill proposal for a similar bond issue. Because of lower interest rates, the cost has dropped to one half mill.

History comes alive when Hartwick Pines group gathers

By Shirley D. Schmoock

They all came: Mel Legg, the sawyer, Jess Spangler, steam engineer, Roger "Mr. Bluebird" Barber, Civil War buff's Wendell, Jeremiah & Angie Hoover. Period instruments produced delightful sounds as Jim Freeman (of Flint) and his little band of merrymakers danced flying fingers over hammer dulcimers, fondly called "Lumberjack Pianos" by those who used to play them for entertainment in the lumber camps of yore.

Red flannel and wide suspended baggy pants seemed to be the uniform of the day, except for the floral print dresses worn by the ladies. The lobby of the new Visitor's Center at Hartwick Pines hosted big men with plaid shirts and raucous laughs to offset the feminine charm of the prairie women.

All that seemed to be lacking at the gathering of the Friends of Hartwick Pines membership was an open campfire and the smell of sawdust. The group had come together for its 1st annual celebration for a job well done. The yearly events hosted by the group — Woodshaving & Sawdust Days, Black Iron days, and Old Time Days — had all been wildly successful.

President Mary Coy presented several Certificates of Appreciation, among them: Myrtle Graham, Hazel Koemke, Chuck & Betty McPeck, Donna Zanotti, Virginia Kautz, Bill Coy, Angie Hoover, Gretta Chapp, and Roger Barber. Mary Coy, herself, was then presented with a plaque of appreciation and well wishes from Wendell Hoover, Executive Secretary

PROPOSED GRAYLING ELEMENTARY ADDITION

Full house expected for Vaudeville show

The Christmas Walk Vaudeville program made its debut last year to an unexpected full house at the Rialto Theater. Over three hundred people enjoyed the free entertainment of music, dance, and story-telling backed up with a full-screen slide show.

The program, sponsored by the merchants participating in the annual Christmas Walk, will be presented at the Rialto Theater again this year on Sunday, November 22, at 4:30 p.m. as a grand finale to the two day event sponsored by the Grayling Uptown District Association.

By popular demand, Shelley Radwion will be repeating the heart warming story, "Till Love You Forever." Also included in the program is the prize-winning children's story, "The Polar Express" backed up with music and a slide presentation. Lexi Bondar will be singing an original song written and composed by her father, Al Bondar. Louise Tournaud's school of dance will be participating along with Gary LaCroix and the St. Francis Choir.

Tickets can be obtained at no charge on Saturday or Sunday from any of the 15 businesses participating in the Christmas Walk. These businesses are identified by Christmas Walk Banners displayed near their entry door.

A donation box will be available at the door of the Rialto Theater for those who wish to offer a gift. Either money or toys would be appropriate. The proceeds will be turned over to the River House Shelter to support their efforts to provide a safe place for abused families.

Bearss wins 2nd in state photo contest

His winning photo — of a student eagerly raising her hand — was taken and developed during his week of study at MSU.

Bearss, the son of Mike and Linda Bearss of Grayling, was enrolled in the basic photography class, which met August 2-7. He and his classmates, high school journalism students from all over Michigan, studied camera basics, photo composition, film development, printing techniques and use of the flash. They split their time between lab and classroom work and photo shoots.

"The whole experience was so overwhelming," said Bearss. "I was really impressed by the instructor, Terry Nelson. With the skills I learned there, I hope I can make this 1993 yearbook the best in GHS history."

Bearss is a second-year student in the GHS Publications class, where he is staff photographer and photography co-editor for the 1993 SAGA yearbook.

Two other GHS students, senior Laura Hamilton and junior Lisa Richie, attended the annual Jostens Summer Workshop at Oakland University in early July. Hamilton, the daughter of Bill and Phyllis Hamilton of Grayling, studied photography, and Richie, the daughter of Raymond and Margaret Richie of Grayling, attended the yearbook workshop.

"We learned lots," said Hamilton.

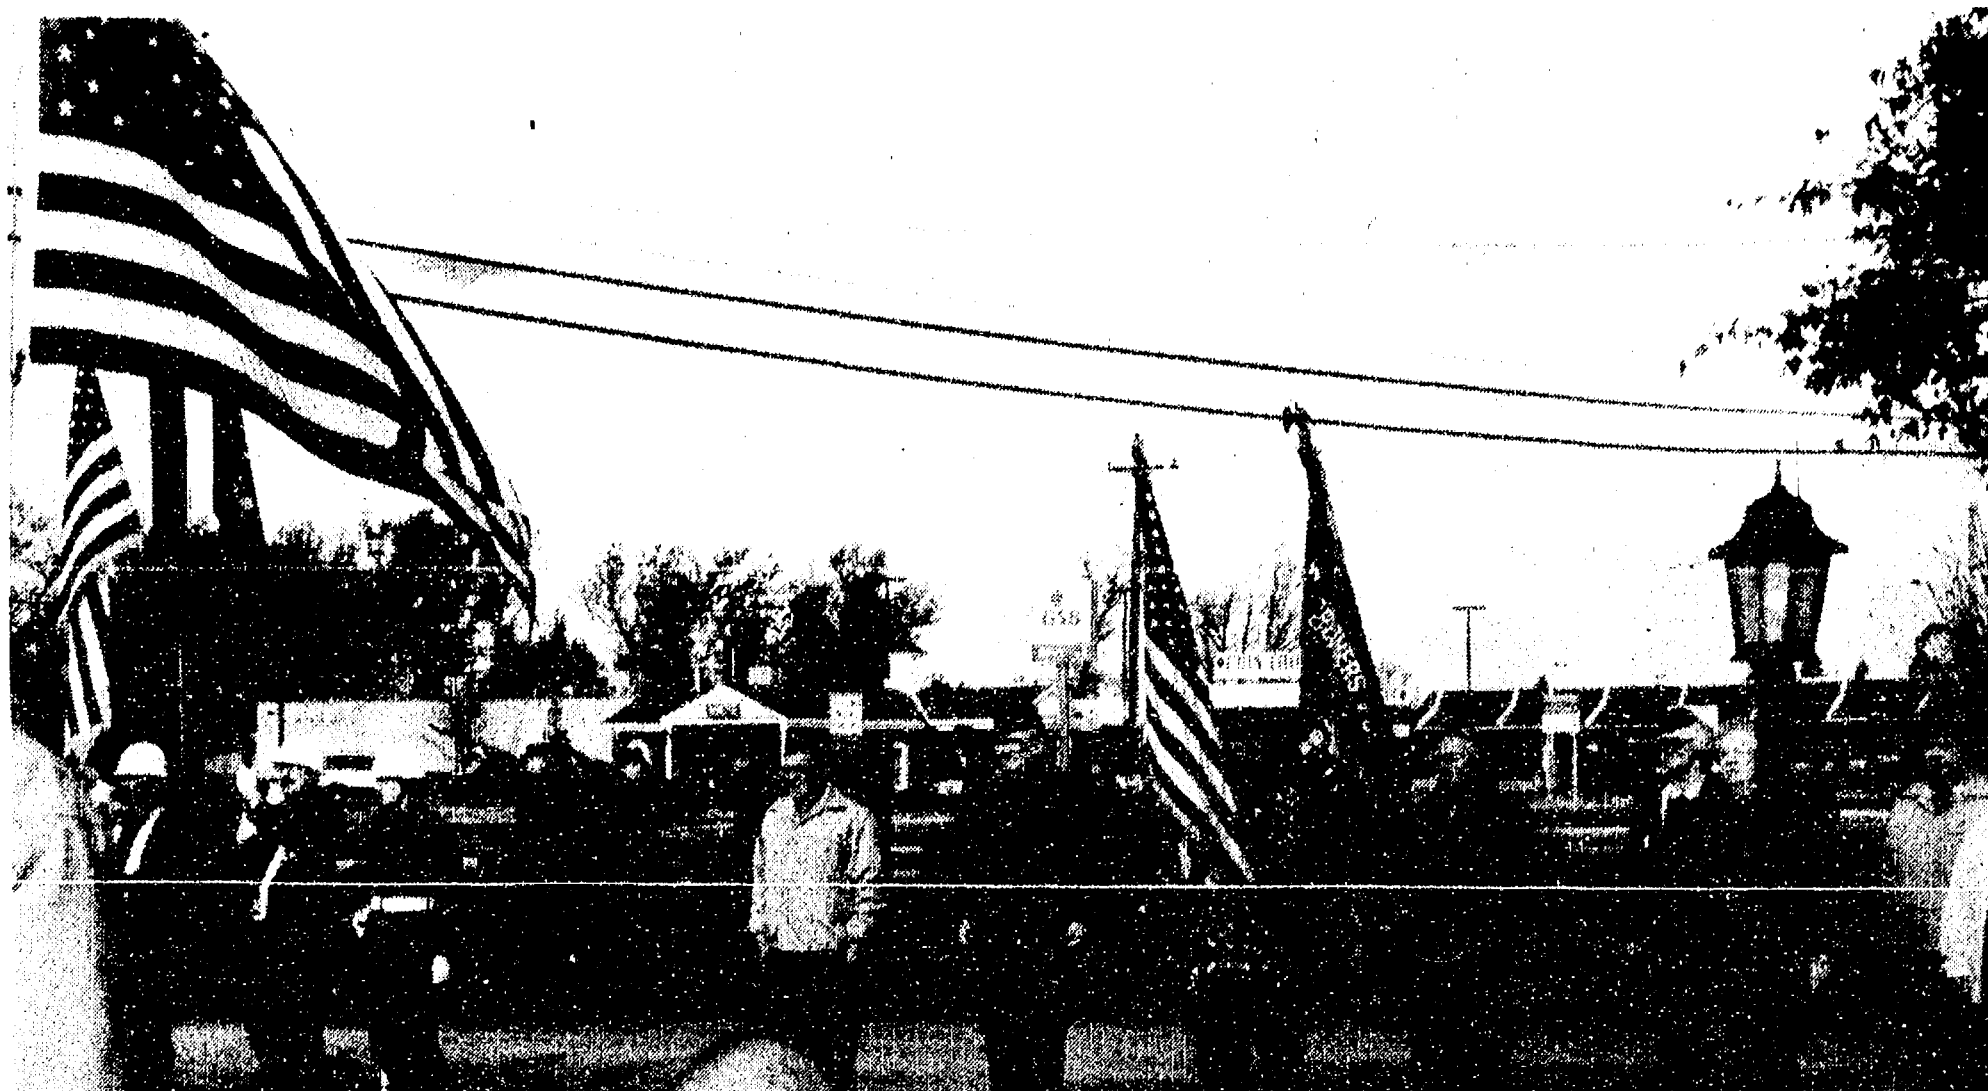

"How the light meter works, developing film, storing pictures and negatives, how to use flashes, leading lines."

Hamilton, a staff photographer and photography co-editor for the '93 SAGA, is a third-year Publications student.

"I learned basic techniques of yearbook design," said Richie. "And a lot of do's and don't's."

Richie, also a third-year Publications student, is editor-in-chief of the '93 SAGA.

"It strengthens the journalism program at GHS when our students attend these intensive summer workshops where they study under people with experience and expertise and where they meet students from other schools who also have a great interest in the subject," said Publications instructor and SAGA adviser Nancy Lemmen.

Smokeout set to stamp out smoking

The American Cancer Society has been hosting the Great American Smokeout for 16 years now. It is estimated that 434,000 lives will be lost in 1992 from smoking.

Last year, more than 17.7 million of the nation's smokers participated in the Smokeout for 24 hours, according to a nationwide Gallup survey. A record 5.8 million smokers who abandoned their cigarettes for the day continued to not smoke for 1-3 days more.

Quitting's tough, and smokers need to know that they can count on loved ones and friends for support. The Crawford County American Cancer Society chapter is hoping that by not smoking for this 24 hours, a smoker will stop all together or at least see how easy it may be. The local chapter has an adoption program for those that want to quit with help from friends and family.

Events and information about the November 19 smokeout are available at Grayling Mercy Hospital, Glen's Market, and in the schools. For those who can not get to those areas, here are a few tips to help you at home. Tell every one what you are doing. Let them know what you are doing. Ask them to contact you often during the day and give you encouragement. Hide all ashtrays, matches, and cigarettes for the day (at least). Lay in a supply of sugarless gum, carrot sticks, etc. Drink lots of liquid, but pass up coffee and alcohol. When the urge to smoke hits, take a deep breath, hold it for 10 seconds and release it slowly. Exercise to relieve the tension. Try the buddy system and ask a friend to quit too.

"Smoking affects all of us in one way or another," says Beisey Mitchell, of the local chapter, "I know I lost my mother to smoking 3 years, 4 months, and 15 days ago. She couldn't give it up. Now I have had to give her up. Remember the smoke you blow out affects those loved ones around you too! If you won't stop for yourself, how about for your family, friends, and those in the future that could enjoy having a grandparent?"

If you would like more information on the Great American Smokeout or any other cancer, call Mitchell at 348-8624.

Celebration of Lights begins November 21

The Grayling Promotional Association is sponsoring the "Celebration of Lights" again this year. Its goal is to have every building and business decorated with little white lights. The "Celebration of Lights" has made Grayling look picturesque and beautiful in past years.

The GPA plans to have all who participate turn on their lights starting Saturday, November 21, and leave them on during the entire holiday season.

Put up your lights now so you can join in the fun and spirit of the 1992 "Celebration of Lights."

While in China, remember, don't drink the water

(NOTE: The writer recently spent 15 days on a visit to China as a member of the Nomads Travel Club of Detroit. This is the second of four articles about that trip.)

CHINA IS TRYING hard to attract tourists, especially after the negative impact on tourism of the Tiananmen Square brutality of 1989.

The tourist hotels where we stayed were top notch, comparable to anywhere. But Americans still don't drink the water, even at the top-of-the-line hotels. Bottled water is furnished instead.

The Chinese guide system needs improving; they tend to shepherd you too closely, and seem to make up their plans as they go along. The tourism system is run by the national government.

China is bidding strongly for the summer Olympic games to be awarded to Beijing for 2000.

Our trip was late September-early October, and tourists were everywhere. Most of the tourists with whom we competed were Chinese, with a sprinkling of American, British, Australian, Japanese and other Europeans. One quick impression is that American tourists are not nearly as pushy and impolite as most others.

SOME OTHER impressions:
The food was better than we expected — and not like American Chinese food at all. Each lunch and dinner was a variety of Chinese dishes, usually chicken, pork, fish, two or three green vegetables, rice, sometimes noodles, sea weed, beef, tofu, and a few others. There rarely were sweets. When soup is served, the meal is ending; only dessert — in our case, generally melon — remains.

Beer, coke and bottled water were served at meals. Generally beer was cheaper than bottled water. Coffee was only available at the western style breakfasts at our hotels. Tea was rarely served.

Traffic is heavy, with buses, bicycles, and pedestrians sharing the streets. Personal cars are rare. Bicycles are used for cartage as well as transportation; they can carry heavy loads. There are only five gas stations in Beijing, according to our guide.

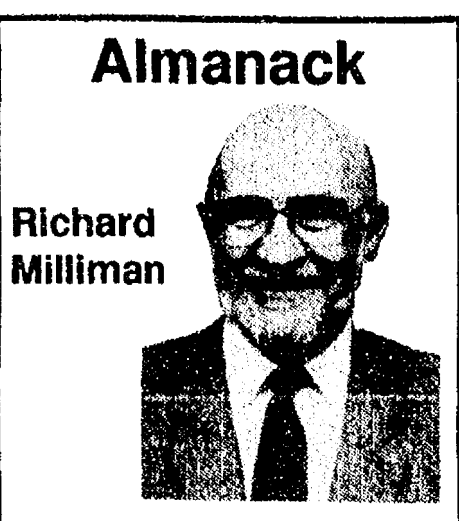

Still smog is pervasive, as are respiratory problems. Almost everyone seems to smoke cigarettes, cough and spit.

There are 3.3 million bicycles in Beijing alone. They are licensed annually.

POPULATION CONTROL is important in China. Couples are limited to one child; more than that brings fines and other economic recrimination. The rule is different in farm areas, where more children are allowed.

The language barrier makes touring difficult; hardly anyone speaks or understands much English.

The United States sale of fighter jets to the Taiwan government caused much discussion and concern among

Almanack
Richard Milliman
Chinese. They didn't like it. Guides are important on a trip such as this. Our guides were young, usually college graduates, fulfilling national requirements to work for the government for five years after receiving college education. That sounds like Bill Clinton's National Service Trust idea.

SCHOOL IS REQUIRED and free for nine years — six primary, three secondary. After that, there's a charge. School is 5 1/2 days a week. After nine years, if grades are excellent, students can go to college; some students pay their way; if government pays, five years of work for the government is required after graduation. If students don't go to college, vocational training is offered. The work week usually is six days, eight hours a day... five and a half days in some places. Average pay for a worker in a rug factory or a pottery factory is about 300 yuan a month

STREET SCENE--Bicycles are prominent on most Chinese streets, sharing the traffic in cities with buses, streetcars, trucks and pedestrians. Sidewalk shops (like those seen above) sell souvenirs, clothing, food (both cooked on the spot, and take-home raw meat, fish, etc.), and everything essential for day-to-day living. (Photo by Richard Milliman)

(about $60 American). Rent on a modest city flat would be 40 yuan a month.

Most factories we visited had signs asking for foreign investment of both capital and management.

TELEVISION in the hotels carried both English and Chinese programming. At different hotels, we got CNN News and MTV in English; Dan Rather sounds funny dubbed in Chinese. Whether the same shows are available in Chinese homes I don't know.

Another jarring sight is the video arcade, right next to streetside cooking and eating tents, open air meat stalls, vegetable stands, fish tanks, etc.

China issues two currencies. One called Foreign Exchange Currency is issued only to foreigners; natives are not supposed to have it. The other is Reminbi, issued to Chinese; foreigners are not supposed to use it. The yuan is worth about 18 cents American — one dollar is about 5.5 yuan.

In Hong Kong, the exchange rate was one dollar American for 7.74 Hong Kong Dollars — about 13 cents for a Hong Kong dollar.

Most shops and stands which trap tourists have hand calculators at the ready for easy money translation.

(NEXT: Visit with a Chinese family.)

Volunteers help start healing process at River House Shelter

For most people, home is a symbol of security, relaxation, and comfort. Unfortunately, for thousands of women and children, home is a scene of abuse, danger, and death. The majority of violence comes not from strangers, but from loved ones — husbands, ex-husbands, or boyfriends.

River House Shelter opened its doors to these women and children in 1987, and in the years since, has expanded its programs and remodeled the facility. I have been a volunteer at the shelter since its inception, so can personally attest to its importance in the lives of the people who utilize its services. Its effectiveness is due largely to the dedication of its staff, but also to the hundreds of area businesses and individuals who donate material items, cash, or volunteer hours.

River House relies heavily on the volunteers; they are involved in every facet of the shelter's operation. Office work, spending time with the women, sorting donations, or dedicating time to the children, are all areas in which volunteers are utilized. Most of my volunteer hours have been spent with the forgotten victims of spouse abuse — the children. Many of them are mentally and physically abused, and need much love, attention, and counseling. The children's support groups are a very important part of the healing process, providing them with a chance to learn about ending the cycle of violence.

Children learn family values from their parents. Imagine what type of lesson the two children I observed playing with a Barbie and Ken have learned. The Ken doll was being manipulated to hit and kick the Barbie doll. In another instance, a small boy was swearing at his mother, obviously repeating things he had heard his father saying. These are every day occurrences at the shelter; it is realism to the children in families where domestic violence occurs.

Childhood should be a time of freedom from adult worries, and a time of security in a loving, stable family atmosphere. The children that I have seen at the shelter do not know what childhood means — they're too busy trying to stay alive. Some of them are injured while trying to protect their Mom from further abuse, and others while simply trying to stay out of the way. One youngster broke an arm when the father punched a wall and accidentally knocked a piece of furniture over on the child. The type of abuse these children suffer is varied; it ranges from verbal abuse to sexual molestation. Emotional abuse is always present, even if it is unintentional. A small girl who was otherwise not abused, carried fears that she was responsible for her mother being beaten. The child had broken a glass beforehand, and was convinced that she and her mother had to come to shelter because of it.

Dedicated volunteers see firsthand the physical and mental bruises inflicted upon clients, leaving scars that no one should ever have to live with. River House Shelter begins a healing process for these women and children.

Opinions

Let's Talk About It

By Joe Murphy

My good friend Jerry Owens brought me a very interesting book, "Early Life In The Johannesburg Area," written by Wayne B. Welch. I did not realize until I read that book that the same men, Salling, Michelson, and Hanson were the men who also logged in that area. In fact Johannesburg was named for Ramus Hanson's sister Johanna.

Many names connected with the Grayling area were at one time residents there in its heyday. Names like Dan Hoessli, Max Tobin, Stanley Rutkowski, Charles Tinker, and John Rasmussen seem to jump out at me as people I remember. The book is full of good solid information on the lumbering days. For instance, in 1913 the total cost per thousand board feet from the tree to finished lumber loaded on cars ready to ship was $12.12. In 1914 the average wage was $1.10 per man per day, to board them cost 45¢ per day, while it cost 69¢ per day to feed a horse.

They tell us the mill there ran 359 days of the year 1914. That left their employees six days of the year to goof off. They must have shut down just for the major holidays. To build a lumber camp cost on the average less than a thousand dollars. Some of the lumbering in that area was of hard wood lumber, although Hemlock made up 60% of their cut. Hemlock was a cheaper type of lumber. It sold for an average of $25.28 per thousand board feet. As it cost only $12.12 to produce per thousand, it still was $13.16 per thousand profit. Maple was next highest. It sold for $61.32 per thousand which gave it a profit of $49.20 per thousand. Elm sold for $93.97 — the highest priced of them all — returning a profit $81.85 per thousand.

With those kind of profits it is easy to see why the timber kings wound up rich men. Only 1.9% of the cut was elm, but for the year it amounted to more than $22,000 profit. Lumbering was a high profit business for the few who made thousands while the workers made their dollar a day. If a mill hand worked the full 359 days per year the mills worked, he would wind up making $394.90 for his work for the year. It helps to explain why the labor unions were so popular with the workers when they began. For the company, that one mill produced over a half a million dollars profit. Somehow that kind of profit at the expense of the working man just doesn't seem right to me.

By the time this appears in the paper deer season will be well under way and maybe the old man will have found one blind in one eye he can sneak up on. If so, maybe I can have meat in my stew this winter. The deer track soup I had to eat last winter got mighty tiresome.

My Christmas book of poems for the Christmas Basket Program is out for sale again at the bakery. Please help all you can to assure a Merry Christmas for all the children in the area. Things are tough for so many folks now the program needs all the help it can get.

Thank you Henrietta for the nice letter. It brightened an otherwise dull day for me.

In regards to the exploration of gas and oil in Crawford County. How wonderful it would be for us. Wrong! I recently moved here from Lewiston. I lived the wonderful life. I saw a beautiful road clear cut twenty feet to the left. I had semi trucks, seven at a time, down my peaceful road. I had bulldozers in front of my home for hours at a time. Noise so loud you couldn't stand it. We had rigs running around the clock for days. Water truck came down the road so fast my children couldn't play in front of the house. I saw and reported a spill on the road that, the day I moved, still hadn't been cleaned up. I reported it to the DNR. I heard the constant humming of pumping stations that can still be heard today. And on the corner of our road, stands the eye sore of a pump, where there used to be some great oaks. I saw landowners, who were greedy, turn terribly regretful about their decision.

What I didn't see anymore were the deer that used to be around and the wildlife that has to keep moving at all times. What I didn't hear was the peace and quiet that we are entitled to.

Take heed, if there ever was time for Grayling to stand together, it's on this very issue! Let's save something for the future. Let's not let greed take what the fire left. If you don't believe this, just take a ride down some of the roads in Lewiston. You'll know why we left.

History comes alive at Hartwick Pines of the group. Friends of Hartwick Pines is an all volunteer army of devoted fans of the state park. They work to develop interesting displays of lumbering equipment and genuine examples of lumbering life. Not only does the group share ideas and period costume information, but they hone their various crafts, often making money for the group with the sale of the handmade items.

Their primary objectives are to "produce interpretive and educational literature to increase visitor understanding of the park; to maintain a suitable research library; to assist in the development and improvement of the park; and to preserve and enhance the park's museum collection."

Several times each year the group comes together to host and sponsor the special events which are open to the public and are intended to "educate the public to the history of Michigan's logging era." The "Friends" organization, a non-profit association formed to "promote recreational activities at Hartwick Pines State Park" has been in existence for four years. The group is an offshoot of the National Historical Association, and membership is open to anyone interested in promoting the interests of the park.

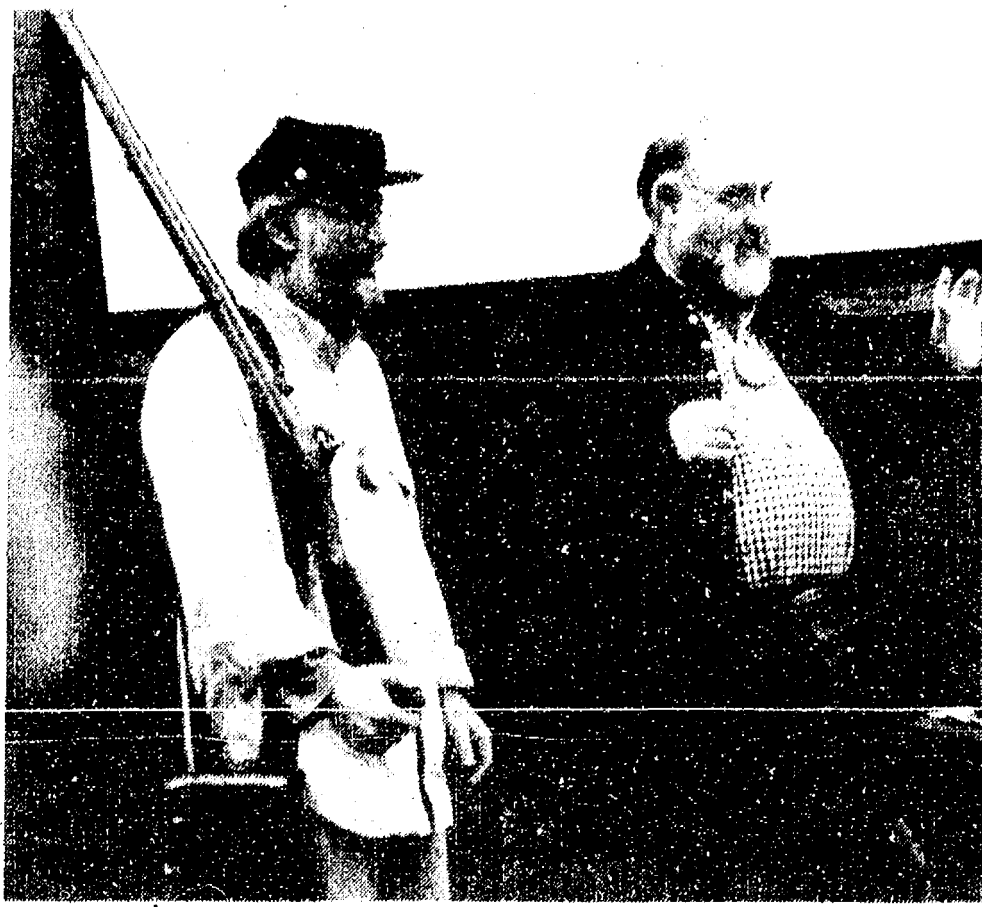

The dinner was in keeping with the spirit of the lumbering days, as well; it was prepared by the resurrected Swamp II of Frederic, and the menu featured food rich in gravied excellence, home baked pies and apple cider. After the feast, the entire group adjourned to the new auditorium at the Visitor Center for a sensational display of Civil War weaponry and the various items carried by the soldiery during those terrible years of our national strife.

Al Pifer, a Civil War relic specialist from Traverse City, communicated with great skill how the 26th Michigan Regiment had been formed of Danes, Swedes, Norwegians, and some Germans, mostly farm boys from northern Michigan. He explained and demonstrated how to load a musket, how to reload while on horseback, and the proper way to wield a hunting knife should the enemy be found in the area. Foraging for food, of course, was a constant problem for the Regiment, as was properly responding to the military discipline of standing guard and fulfilling the drill requirements imposed by the senior officers. Sentry duty, explained Pifer, was usually the most dangerous job of all; soldiers shot themselves and others early in their training periods, until some innovative officer "sawed off the stock of the musket and replaced it with a broom handle so the weapon was not functional."

Included also in the presentation were historical observations such as how the wealthy "could hire someone to serve their time." Perhaps the most interesting item was that "659 tons of lead were expended at the Battle of Gettysburg." If there are 28 bullets in each pound of lead, calculate for yourself how many rounds were being fired in the small space of four days.

Any interested in joining the group can call the park, 348-7068.

HISTORY COMES ALIVE--The Hartwick Pines Friends group was treated to a display of Civil War relics owned by Al Pifer.

100,000 faces on display in Fairview

The mural maze entitled "How Many Is 100,000" will be on display at the Comins Township Hall in Fairview, November 21 to 24. The display consists of 439 panels each covered with 270 pictures of people. When put together, the panels display the faces of 100,000 people. The display represents the number of reported casualties during the Persian Gulf War, and is in response to the media's scaling of the casualties "light."

The display will be open, free of charge, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, Monday, and Tuesday. Also, a special program and potluck meal will be held at the Fairview Mennonite Church on Sunday at 12 p.m. and a special open house with donuts and coffee will take place at the township hall on Monday evening, from 7 to 9 p.m. Jennifer Lindbergh and Patty King, who are touring with the display, will be on hand to answer questions and provide information.

Frederic Hobby Club plans Christmas party

The Frederic Hobby Club met Monday, November 9, to make plans for their club Christmas party, Saturday, December 5, at 5:30 p.m.

They also made plans for their Christmas treats for the Frederic Elementary School children. They received letters of thanks from Mrs. Hough's 3rd grade class for the Halloween treats they gave them.

The highlight of the evening was a Chinese Auction.

The hostess was Muriel Leng and Elvira Jasmin was the winner of the door prize. Their next regular meeting will be 7:30 p.m. Monday, November 23, at the clubhouse.

Santa to visit Grayling Nov. 28

It's time again for all the good little boys and girls in Grayling to start making their Christmas lists. As usual, they will want to tell Santa as soon as possible and this year they can begin on Saturday, November 28, when Santa arrives in Grayling around 10:30 a.m.

Santa and his friends will be traveling down Michigan Avenue and stop at his special gingerbread house near the gazebo in downtown Grayling. There will be candy canes and face painting and balloons for the children.

During the following weeks, Santa will make regular visits every Saturday from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. so boys and girls who couldn't get to see him the first time will have another chance.

The Grayling Promotional Association and the Grayling Uptown District Association in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce hope that all the children of Grayling can come to visit Santa on some Saturday between now and Christmas.

Scouting for food collects 1,100 cans

Scouting for Food in Crawford County proved to be a success once again. For the fifth straight year, scouts of Troop 979 and Pack 3993 have fulfilled one of the most important parts of their oath. That is "to do a good turn daily." Although most of their good turns are not in the lime light, the scouts are happy to be able to provide this service for their community.

Among the scouts, along with their parents, who set out to ask for food for the needy were: boy scout Joe Morrey, Martin Kroell, Rob Wakeley, Dylan and David Starks. The cub scouts who helped were T. J. Johnson, Keil Clough, and Ben Yoder. Because of the small number of scouts, they didn't get to all the areas of the community, but it proved once again to be a success as scouts collected over 1,100 cans. They were donated to the Community Christian Center.

Loren Goodale, III, puts the program together each year and makes it work.

Consider the mutual fund alternative!

Providing people with the safety and security of insured bank deposits is one of the most important things we do. But we realize that some customers want a higher yield on their funds than banks can offer on insured deposits...or wish to diversify their investments.

That's why Chemical Bank now offers its customers six different Federated mutual funds. These funds allow you to invest in various types of securities, including municipal bonds which pay tax-exempt interest, depending on your own goals and objectives.

If you'd like more information about Federated mutual funds and a prospectus of the fund that interests you, contact our Investment Department. Or ask the manager at any nearby Chemical Bank.

Kmart leading community goodwill during holidays

The Kmart Good News Committee will again be coordinating community efforts to spread goodwill during Thanksgiving and Christmas. On Saturday, November 21, the Good News Committee, the Legion Auxiliary, and other local businesses will host a Thanksgiving dinner for seniors. Last year's dinner attracted more than 400 persons.

Pushing snow on to roadways, shoulders is against the law

Property owners piling snow high along roadways and shoulders or pushing it to the opposite side of the street without clearing debris can cause hazardous conditions for motorists, and the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) warns that it is also against the law.

MDOT said state law prohibits businesses and citizens from dumping snow on roadways and shoulders or piling it so high at driveway entrances that it obstructs the vision of motorists.

The Department recommends residents keep the shoulder in front of their driveways clear and also clear snow for a short distance from the driveway in the direction of approaching traffic.

Large businesses should make special arrangements ahead of time to remove snow from their driveway entrances and driveways. In some cases it may be necessary to truck snow away from parking facilities.

Violators leave themselves open to fines and lawsuits for public liability and property damage. For a charge to be filed, a police officer must witness the violation or a citizen must file a complaint.

All property owners and persons hired to remove snow are responsible for maintaining safe traffic conditions and preventing careless snow-removal techniques.

Bingo will start the Saturday activities at 11 a.m. Dinner will be served by Camp Shawono youth from 1 to 3 p.m.

On Monday, November 23, the Good News Committee will give away food baskets to needy families.

Kmart is donating 20 baskets and area businesses are being asked to donate money or food for additional baskets. Last year, a total of 45 baskets were given away. Glen's Markets provides the food for the baskets at a reduced rate.

On December 5, 20 children will be given a shopping trip at Kmart through the donations of the Good News Committee.

Later in December, the Good News

Committee will coordinate a community effort to provide food baskets for Christmas. Last year, more than 100 businesses donated toward the food baskets.

"Lots of people want to help out during the holidays, but they don't know how to do it," said Kmart manager Paul Lokai. "Last year, the community response was awesome."

In addition to providing Christmas food baskets, the community effort produced a donation of more than $800 to the local food pantry.

Anyone wishing to donate to the Thanksgiving dinner or Christmas food baskets can write to Kmart Good News Committee, 2425 I-74 Business Loop, Grayling, MI 49738.

Healthline

Linda DeMarchis, M.A., Health Educator,

This column is presented as a public service to the community by District Health Department No. 1 which serves, Wexford, Missaukee, Kalkaska, and Crawford counties. If you have a question you would like answered, please send it to District Health Department No. 1, 401 Lake St., Cadillac, Michigan, 49601.

Now that school has started we would like to call your attention to an annual problem, head lice. To insure that your young students will bring only school supplies to the classroom and not these tiny little hitchhikers, we suggest you conduct a head lice inspection. These small wingless parasites live on the scalp and hair and move from one person to another through exchange of personal belongings, such as combs and hats, etc., and close personal contact. Already this summer head lice have been having a "picnic," traveling from child to child at camps, athletic events, slumber parties and other activities which put children's heads close together. In addition jackets and hats which may hang side by side also give these insects a perfect opportunity to spread.

When inspecting for head lice, look for the grayish white eggs of the female louse, called nits, firmly glued to the base of the hair shaft. Pay particular attention to the back of the head and behind the ears. Use a magnifying glass and flashlight if necessary. Also notice if your children have been scratching their heads frequently, since head lice may cause intense itching. The adult lice, if few in number, may be difficult to see, and combing the child's hair over a white towel or white paper may reveal the small flesh colored insects.

If you notice head lice, don't be embarrassed. These creatures can affect anyone and rarely distinguish between clean or unwashed hair. They are not a sign of poor grooming habits and may even find washed hair easier to grasp onto than oily, unwashed hair. If one family member has head lice, inspect the whole family because lice may migrate from one family member to another.

To prevent and eliminate head lice, try these helpful tips:

- Instruct children to put hats and scarves inside jacket sleeves and keep a space between their coats and other children's outerware.

- Advise them not to share articles of clothing, combs, brushes, earphones, athletic helmets, pillows, etc.

- Inspect heads periodically. If head lice are discovered, several good shampoos are available either with or without a doctor's prescription. After shampooing, comb out any visible nits with a special comb. A solution of 1/2 vinegar, 1/2 water may help loosen nits when allowed to remain in the hair for several minutes.

- Remove child's bedding and wash in hot water or seal in a plastic garbage bag for several weeks until lice and nits are dead.

- Soak combs and brushes for 15 minutes in very hot tap water.

- A spray is available to use on carpeting, beds, chairs, etc. as a final precaution and can be obtained at your local pharmacy.

If you have any questions about head lice, call District Health Department No. 1 or stop by any health department office and pick up an informative pamphlet on the subject.

Range Firing

There will be no range firing at Camp Grayling during the period of November 18, through November 25, due to the firearm deer season.

THANK YOU
CRAWFORD COUNTY VOTERS

Thank you, once again, for your overwhelming support in the Nov. 3rd election. The encouragement from hometown people has been particularly special to us. During these last months the continued help and support of family and friends have lightened our days and encouraged us to keep going.

An extra thank you to all the hard workers across Crawford County! Your combined efforts -- addressing and stuffing envelopes, going door-to-door, putting up signs, talking to friends--have given me the privilege to represent Crawford County and northern Michigan for the next two years. I look forward to working with each of you to make northern Michigan a better place to live. I will always welcome your input. Please feel free to call me with any questions.

Thank you all,

Allen

Deer to be studied for Lyme disease

Representatives from the U.S. Army Environmental Hygiene Agency will be in Grayling during Michigan's firearm deer season to survey deer for the risk of Lyme disease.

Widely recognized in the medical and scientific community is that Lyme disease, a debilitating ailment to humans, is often transmitted by ticks, (Ixodes dammini), which reside on deer in this part of the country.

The Hygiene Agency

representatives will be located at Skip's Sport Shop, Grayling, when the season opens. They will ask successful hunter's permission to examine the deer for ticks, and to draw a blood sample for later analysis. The initial procedure will take only a few minutes.

The information gained from this survey will aid researchers in their study of the disease, and to recommend ways of avoiding, preventing, and treating the disease.

Doodles From The Tall Timber

Wendell L. Hoover Park Interpreter, Hartwick Pines State Park

In the process of gathering information for possible inclusion in the exhibits for the new Visitor Center, I discovered a lot of information relating to plants that might be of interest to you.

Considering that a tree is seemingly a product of the soil, only five percent of its weight derives from the soil. Forty-four percent of its weight is carbon, forty-three percent is oxygen, six percent of its weight is hydrogen, while nitrogen and some other trace elements make up the remaining two percent. With this in mind, it is interesting to note that in an acre of good topsoil there is stored about eighty thousand pounds of organic matter which is equal to the energy of up to twenty-five tons of anthracite coal.

An acre of typical young forest (not all conifer or deciduous trees) consumes an average of five tons of carbon dioxide per year, while at the same time producing four tons of life sustaining oxygen and producing some four tons of new wood. In an environment increasingly beset by air pollution, keep in mind that an acre of trees can remove about thirteen tons of dust and gasses every year, from the surrounding environment. Keep in mind that an acre is real close to the same size as a football field.

Putting warmth in your life, in more ways than one.

You know that natural gas from MichCon is what keeps your home warm. But what you might not know is that at MichCon we do a lot more than just warm homes. We work in the community. Fueling economic development. Bringing jobs to teenagers. Watching out for children through the Community Child Watch Program.

And assisting qualified minority businesses wherever possible. We can show you how to conserve energy. And we are committed to providing a wide range of programs that increase the value of your service. Just give us a call. Sure, MichCon is where the warmth comes from. But it's where a lot of other good things come from, too.

THE QUILT MAKING KIDS—On October 1, Mrs. Rauch-Smock's second grade made a class quilt. We had a lot of fun. It took about one and a half hours. It was a giant's paper quilt. We drew pictures in the squares. The red ones are about our families and the blue ones are about our world. It was at the Grayling State Bank for several weeks. An art teacher came in to help, her name was Mrs. Mansfield-Oliver. The art teacher was nice and we look forward to having her come back.

Obituaries

Keith Sorenson

Keith E. Sorenson, 70, of Daggett, died Saturday, November 14, 1992, at Bay Area Medical Center, Marinette, Wisconsin. Services by the Mid-County VFW and Menominee Masonic Lodge were held Tuesday, November 17, 1992, at the Cadieu-Anderson Funeral Home, Menominee. Funeral services were held Wednesday, November 18, 1992, at Sorenson Funeral Home, McEvers Chapel, with Dr. Dennis Paulson officiating. Burial was in Elmwood Cemetery.

Mr. Sorenson was born July 11, 1922, in Grayling, to George and Anine (Johnson) Sorenson. On July 23, 1949, in Angola, Indiana, he married Meta Fiedler, and she survives. In September of 1962, they moved to Daggett, where he was funeral director, owner and operator of Sorenson Funeral Home with his wife, Meta, until they retired in 1989. He had served as mayor of Daggett for 2 1/2 years and on the Daggett Village Council for 25 years. He also served in the U.S. Army Medical Corps in World War II.

Mr. Sorenson was a member of the Menominee Lodge 269 F.&A.M., Ahmed Shrine Temple, Twin City Shrine Club. He was on the Board of Directors of the American Red Cross, Board of Directors of Mid-County Rescue Squad, the American Legion, Lions Club and the Mid-County VFW.

In addition to his wife, Mr. Sorenson is survived by a son, Nick Sorenson of Menominee.

Cards of thanks

The family of Loren J. Goodale, Sr. would like to thank everyone for their visits, cards, flowers, plants, food and prayers during the time of our loss. A special thank you to North Flight ambulance crew; all the doctors, nurses, aids, and dietary staff at Mercy Hospital; all the doctors at Family Practice; Dr. Rev. Dennis Paulson and other ministers. The Mason Lodge F.&A.M. 356 for the memorial service, Michelson Memorial Church and Eastern Stars #83 for the fellowship dinner, and the Grayling Fire Department.

We miss him dearly but it is a comfort to know so many cared.

Caroline and family

Martha Petersen

Martha J. Petersen, 87, of Maple Forest, died Thursday, November 12, 1992, at Blodgett Memorial Hospital in Grand Rapids. Funeral services were held Monday, November 16, 1992, at St. John Lutheran Church in Grayling, with Reverend Michael Kemper officiating. Burial was in Elmwood Cemetery. Arrangements were made by Sorenson Funeral Home, McEvers Chapel.

Ms. Petersen was born February 27, 1905, in Grayling. She was a member of St. John Lutheran Church and the Maple Forest Home Extension. She had been employed as a bookkeeper at AuSable Woodworking Company for fifty years, and was Maple Forest Township Treasurer for twenty-four years. She was a life-resident of Crawford County and was preceded in death by her parents, Hemming and Ane Kristine (Nielsen) Petersen; brothers, Hans Petersen and Johannes Petersen; sisters, Ester Petersen, Christine Feldhauser, and Sophie Forsberg. She is survived by nieces and nephews.

The family suggests memorial gifts to St. John Lutheran Church in Grayling.

Memorials suggested

The family of Marjorie G. Morency suggests memorials to the American Lung Association or the Grayling Booster Club.

The Avalanche inadvertently left this out of the obituary published November 12. The Avalanche apologizes for the error.

Lozon, Wyman married

Becky Lozon, daughter of Richard and Betty Lozon of Grayling, and Ron Wyman, son of David and Jill Wyman, also of Grayling, were married October 24, 1992, at Mt. Hope Lutheran Church in Grayling, with Pastor Winters officiating.

The bride wore a white satin gown with lace overlay and puffed sleeves. Serving as maid of honor was Nicki Morrow. Bridesmaids were Pam Miller and Tina Armstrong. Flower girls, Rachael Evan and Lauren Helsel, nieces of the bride, wore peach satin dresses.

Serving as best man was Brian Kemstock, with Todd McDonald and Chris Rollins as groomsmen. Paul Failing was usher.

A reception, held at the Eagles Club in Grayling, immediately followed the ceremony.

Rifle season off to snowy, but safe start

By Lori Swarthout

According to Pat Park, of the Crawford County Sheriff Department, only fender benders were reported as hunters braved cold and blizzards to set up camp for the opening day, Sunday, November 15.

According to television reports, the only area accidents sustained so far were in Clare County, where two hunters were killed by fumes from an improperly vented heater they were using to heat the bed of the pick-up they were camping in.

No reports of anti-hunter action, said to be a possibility in last week's Avalanche, were reported by Park. Hunters are urged to wear their orange, stay alert, and have a safe season.

In memory of

In loving memory of our beloved father, Richard Williams, November 16, 1977, and mother, Dorris A. Williams, November 25, 1991, who passed away.

In our hearts your memory lingers sweetly, fond and true.

There is not a day dear father and mother that we do not think of you.

Sadly missed by,
The Williams family

Vikings lose cliffhanger 44-42 to Rogers City

ALL-OUT DEFENSE--Senior Sarah Micek leaps high to try to block an in-bounds pass in a recent game against Whittemore-Prescott.

By Nancy Lemmen

Victory eluded the Grayling High School girls varsity basketball team last week, due in a big part to turnover troubles.

The Vikings fell to Charlevoix, 61-48, on November 10.

"Charlevoix led most of the way," said Coach Howard Lehti. "A big problem for Grayling was the number of turnovers. Charlevoix came up with half-court pressure and we had 30 turnovers for the ball game. It was a big deciding factor."

Senior Sarah Micek led the Vikings in the scoring column with an impressive 18 points. She also racked up 12 rebounds, six steals and two assists.

"Sarah had an outstanding night," said Lehti. "She played a good all-around game."

Senior Amy Vandecar added nine points, ten rebounds and one assist.

"Amy had a nice game," said Lehti.

Senior Elissa Cox contributed eight points, one rebound, four steals and five assists.

"Lissa had her best game of the year," said Lehti.

Junior Suzan Lovely made six points, one rebound, and three assists.

"Suzy did a nice job contributing six points," said Lehti.

Senior Heidi Craigie had three points, one rebound and two steals; junior Darcie McCurdy, two points, six rebounds, four steals and two assists; junior Mandee Micek, two points and one steal; junior Jaime Andrus, two rebounds and two assists; and junior Angie Mertes, four rebounds.

ROGERS CITY GAME

Rogers City won, 44-42, in a cliffhanger against the Vikings on Friday evening.

The Hurons led by up to eight points throughout the ball game and "we kept fighting back," said Lehti. "In the closing minutes of play we were behind by one, and we missed the front end of a one-and-one free throw and one high percentage shot. It would have put a lot of pressure on Rogers if we had put either of those shots in."

"Their press bothered us early in the ball game," he said. "It led to one reason why we had 24 turnovers, which is still rather costly, figuring every one could cost you four points -- the two you don't score and the two they do. We felt we certainly could have won this ball game all the way through."

S. Micek again was high scorer with 15 points and high rebounder with nine.

McCurdy made seven points and had six rebounds.

"Darcie did a nice job with seven points and by helping us on the boards," said Lehti. "She helped Sarah with the rebounding effort."

Andrus had six points and two rebounds; Cox, four points, two rebounds and two assists; Craigie, four points, one rebound and one assist; Vandecar, three points, two rebounds and one assist; M. Micek, two points and two rebounds; Mertes, one point and one assist; and Lovely, three rebounds.

"We were fortunate we left when we did," said Lehti, in reference to Friday's snow storm. "It took us two hours to get there and it took some of our fans three hours. There were icy conditions northeast of Gaylord."

COACHES TO RETIRE

District tournament play will round out not only the varsity girls basketball season, but also Lehti's tenure as head coach at GHS.

"Mark Hudson (freshman girls coach), Dallas Hudson (junior varsity girls coach) and I are retiring after the season," said Lehti. "Many things have been accomplished during our seven years in an attempt to improve the girls' program: team camp participation, introduction night, all-state academic recognition for five years and an integrated 7th-12th grade program are some."

"I've had the opportunity to coach two all-state players, Melanie Ojala and Nicole Morrill. Having two former athletes come back and assist in the high school program (Michelle Moore, volunteer JV coach, and Carrie Trudgeon, volunteer varsity coach) has been very rewarding for me."

"We have a female AAU (Amateur Athletic Union) basketball program established that will allow our athletes the opportunity to excel if they so desire. I plan to stay active in that program."

The Meadows Of Grayling News Letters To The Editor

By Carolyn Poll

We would like to take this opportunity to welcome Mrs. Stella Barr as our new administrator of the Meadows.

On Oct. 30 we had lots of little "Hobb Goblins" visiting us from Crawford AuSable Elementary School. The children were decorated in their Halloween costumes. What a treasure their songs and hand-made cards brought to the residents.

Our annual Halloween party was held shortly after the children's visit. Edward Zielinski and Dorothy Niceswender were the winners of the contest.

On Nov. 6 the caretakers of the animal shelter brought puppies and kittens for the residents to hold and cuddle. We all got a chuckle out of one of the puppies pulling on a lap robe.

Randy Brown assisted residents during "Shake-rattle-and-roll." Jerry, Irene Galvanti, and Loren Scott helped with Bingo.

Nov. 11th, Veterans Day, is a very special day for all. We are honored by having several veterans at our facility. Their names are: William McCrary, Vietnam; John Gauthier, service 1949-1961; Algie Short, WWII; Floyd Iverson, WWII; Harold Talmage, WWII; Joseph Kliss, Korea; Ace Leng, WWII; Roy Musall, WWII; William McCrary, WWII; Donald Wilson, WWII; John Moffat, WWII; Edward Zielinski, WWII; Edward McNeil, Vietnam; Charles Brown, WWII.

We celebrated the day with cake and ice cream. Some of the veterans joined in the flag ceremony at the Copper Kettle and enjoyed lunch there.

Your views are welcome on the Opinion Page. Letters may be typed or handwritten but please double space or use every other line.

Every letter must be signed and an address or phone number should be included. Letters will not be published without the author's name.

Letters are limited to 500 words.

The opinions expressed in the letters and columns on this page are solely those of the writer and do not reflect the views of the Crawford County Avalanche.

Swander honored by State Police

By Lori Swarthout

Michigan State Police recently selected Connie Swander, a civilian employee with the Grayling Forensic Science Lab, as the recipient of their Floyd R. Bell, Jr. Memorial "Civilian of the Year" Award for 1992. Swander was selected over several nominees and three finalists after being interviewed by an award panel in Lansing late in October.

Swander, a 45-year-old mother of two, is a Laboratory Scientist VII at the lab, specializing as a serology/trace evidence expert.

Swander explained that her job allows her to serve as a law enforcement resource for 27 counties in northern Michigan and the eastern upper peninsula. In addition to analyzing and comparing blood, hair, and other trace evidence relevant to criminal investigations, Swander is often called upon to testify at trials, glean evidence on site, and educate various law enforcement officers on evidence preservation and collection.

Swander recently taught a series of one day seminars throughout northern Michigan, stressing crime scene preservation and demonstrating the latest techniques in evidence detection. According to her boss, F/Lt. Edward Moilanen, "The educational efforts of laboratory scientist Swander have been a major factor accounting for the significant increase in the quality and quantity of evidence being submitted to the Grayling Forensic Science Laboratory."

Swander began her career in northern Michigan after earning her Bachelor of Science Degree in Medical Technology from Sienna Heights College in 1978. After college she accepted a job as a Medical Technologist at Grayling Mercy Hospital where she worked until hired by the Grayling Forensic Lab in 1985.

Swander cited a recent case in Charlevoix County, in which her expertise proved crucial in solving a homicide, as being one of her most interesting. Charlevoix County Sheriff George Lasater later honored Swander with the Sheriff's Recognition Award for her assistance on the case. According to Moilanen, without Swander, "This case may have never been solved, if it were not for laboratory scientist Swander having the energy, dedication and willingness to work on intricate pieces of physical evidence on demand."

Swander's award also recognizes her other significant contributions to the community. She is secretary of the Michigan Canoe Racing Association and President of the AuSable River Protection Group. She and the younger of her two sons, Eric, completed the Grayling to Oscoda race in just over 18 hours this year. She is also a member of Grayling Baptist Church, where she is a teacher in the church's Sunday school.

Moilanen, commanding officer at the lab said, "We're very proud of Connie. It's nice to have someone from northern Michigan recognized on the the state level."

Small audiences appreciate comedies by GHS students

By Nancy Lemmen
Grayling High School Drama Department Director David Glicker's legacy may turn out to be that he introduced works by the world's great playwrights to his student actors and local audiences.

Last year, he produced The Physician In Spite of Himself by French dramatist Moliere. Last weekend, he presented two one-act comedies by Russian Anton Chekhov: The Marriage Proposal and The Bear.

Friday night's audience was small, but appreciative of Chekhov's humor, which depended a great deal on the dramatist's language, but also employed physical comedy, particularly in The Marriage Proposal, presented first.

This short play finds Natalia (senior Melyssa Miller) collapsing to and then pounding on the floor in a fit of rage and despair after learning she has chased a potential suitor from her home. It also has Lomov, her gentleman caller (sophomore Eric Shepherd), staggering around the stage and clutching at his chest as his various ailments act up at the mere thought of making the proposal.

Natalia, unaware that Lomov has come to propose, verbally — and even physically — attacks him, enlisting the help of her father, Tschubukov (sophomore Nat Rosi). So great is his peeve at the poor man that, at one point, Tschubukov appears with a shotgun to chase Lomov out of his house.

Their argument is over the ownership of a bit of property lying between them. Both sides are blind to the fact that a marriage between them would, in actuality, unite their two estates and make moot the question of ownership of the strip of land. They would rather beat each other into submission, thereby ruining a long-standing neighborly relationship as well as a potential marriage, than lose an argument.

In the second play, a big bear of a man, Smimov (junior Shawn Hubbard) stomps his way into and throughout the home of widow Popova (senior Yolanda Rosi), demanding money owed to him by her late husband. She agrees to pay him in two days, when she can get the cash, then retires to her room to faithfully mourn for the man who had been unfaithful to her in marriage.

But Smimov wants his money now.

He rants and raves and paces around the stage, first hating Popova, then admiring her, finally falling in love with her — all those emotions expressed primarily through monologue (and by breaking her furniture).

Smimov interrupts himself occasionally to ring for the old servant Luka (sophomore Jeff Taylor) or to call for Popova. At one point, they decide to hold a duel, and it is a funny moment as she returns from her room holding the two weapons of choice with obvious great distaste.

But, as Chekhov surely knew, the line between hate and passion is a thin one. So, when Luka, aided by two field hands, enters at the end to save his mistress, he finds Smimov and Popova locked in an embrace. And the audience is left with the notion that this marriage, unlike the one in the first play, might actually occur.

Glicker designed a simple interior set to use for both plays. In The Marriage Proposal, the action centered nearly entirely around a dining room table, while the set for The Bear was converted to a living room with the placement of a couch at center stage.

Furniture pieces were donated by

The Comfort Center. Set crew members, who made the necessary changes during the ten-minute intermission between plays, included sophomores Mike Amman, Tom Balmes, Tom Mason, Travis Patrick and Lee Taylor.

Professional make-up artist Dan Choszczyk was so successful in making up the cast members that — unlike many high school plays — none of them appeared to be wearing any. He was especially adept at providing the age make-up for Nat Rosi and Jeff Taylor, for turning Eric Shepherd into a sickly, red-eyed pathetic suitor (reminiscent of an aging Alfalfa, with his hair parted straight down the middle and his silly, ineffectual manners) and with the beards required for the male actors. He also provided the cover art for the program.

Mike Amman (The Marriage Proposal) and sophomore Aimee Voight (The Bear) served as assistant directors and stage managers.

Sophomore Jake Lepsy was prop master and junior Chris DiPonio was in charge of the lighting and sound. Jeff Taylor handled publicity.

Junior Kate DeVries was responsible for costumes, rented from a professional company, which were essential in adding authenticity to the time and place of the action. The females wore beautiful, long dresses; Shepherd appeared in evening clothes as he made his attempted marriage proposal; and the other male actors wore Russian Cossack attire.

This is the final year on the stage for drama department regulars Melyssa Miller and Yolanda Rosi. But the boys — all talented and promising actors who have shown growth from last year to this year — are underclassmen and therefore eligible for roles in at least three more productions.

The entire Chekhovian experience lasted only about one and a half hours — a delightful evening for those in attendance and, judging from the level of laughter and applause they received, delightful for the cast and crew as well.

PREPARING TO DUEL--Shawn Hubbard (Smimov) has to show Yolanda Rosi (Popova) how to use a gun in order for them to stage their duel in "The Bear."

GHS PLAYERS--Front: director David Glicker, Nat Rosi, Melyssa Miller, Eric Shepherd, assistant director Mike Amman. Back: assistant director Aimee Voight, Yolanda Rosi, Jeff Taylor, Shawn Hubbard, and make-up artist Dan Choszczyk.

FOOTBALL Contest

Michelle Elsner won all the weekly prizes in another week of upsets. She had 13 points to beat Sandy Williams, Jim Van Dyke, Steve Thompson, Stephen Reinke, Janet Raymond, David Petrie, Gary Nettleton, Gary McMurtrie, Chris Golinick, Jerry Gildner, Kim Clemet, Steven Anderson, John Brumbill, Mary Brown, Steve Bartholomew, and April Ballor, who all had 12 points. If you think you're doing bad, one contest player with the initials T.W. got only one point right.

David Petrie kept the overall contest lead. Here are the top ten: David Petrie, 149; Al Cherven, 145; Butch Brown, 144; Julie Gates, 144; Mary Brown, 143; Joseph Gonica, 143; Paul Hartman, 143; April Ballor, 142; Pamela Hull, 142; Donn Messenheimer, 142; Mary Ann Blair, 142; Douglas Donaldson, 142; David Bendig & Son, 142.

This week's bonus point game will be worth three points.

Last week's winners

| 7. New England | 16. MSU |
| 8. San Diego | 17. W. Michigan |
| 9. N.Y. Jets | 18. Notre Dame |

Here's how to win the overall prizes:

1. Each time you turn in an entry form you'll receive points for your correct picks. Most games will be worth one point. (All games for week 1 are worth one point each.) Later in the season, certain games will be designated as bonus point games worth more than 1 point. The biggest bonus point game will be at the last week of the contest.
2. You don't have to enter each week to be eligible to win but if you play each week, you'll have more chances to win points.
3. The person with the most points at the end of the 17-week contest will win all the overall prizes.

Overall Prizes

HOUND DOG--The animal shelter often has good hunting dogs available, but new owners must want the dog for its lifetime not just hunting season. Stop by the shelter or call 348-4117.

Pet Care Tip

Your dog needs his exercise. If he is a house dog, having a big back yard may not be enough. You may have to encourage him to exercise and, if he's a large dog, even take him for walks around the block.

Verse or Worse

By Joe Murphy

Opening Morning

The boys were out of their bunks real early
At least two hours before break of day
Old Charley cooked a real hunter's breakfast
That the boys had no trouble putting away

That strong coffee would float a horseshoe
That morning tasted mighty fine
For old Charley had been a camp cook
In the days of the tall pine

The boys were soon off to the woods
In search of a mighty buck
Did I detect a certain lack of sincerity
When they wished each other luck

For the boys had a pool of one hundred dollars
That each of them hoped to win
For they had each put twenty in the pool
For the biggest buck brought in Old Charley washed the breakfast dishes

And got a pot of soup ready for dinner
Old Charley had not mentioned the big buck he'd seen
Out the window that was a sure winner

As dawn was breaking he got his old rifle
Slid open the window and sat down on his chair
He had put a lot of peelings in a little pile
And soon that big buck was there

When the boys came in at noon
And saw that big buck hanging there
They knew old Charley had did it to them again
Sitting in warm comfort in his chair

The Bible Speaks

From The
Calvary Baptist Church

Is Hell Hot?

The authorized English version of the Bible translates "Sheol," "Hades," and "Geenna" by the same English word "Hell." The word Hell is used to include all stages of intermediate punishment for the unsaved until their final punishment in the "Lake of Fire." "And death and hell were cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death." (REV 20:14). Just as there will be various rewards for the Christians at the Judgment Seat of Christ, (1 COR 3:10-15; ROM 14:10, 2CO 5:10), even so, there will be degrees of punishment for the unsaved dead based upon their wicked works.

This final judgment of the unsaved follows the second resurrection and will take place at the Great White throne judgment. "And I saw a great white throne, and him that sat on it, from whose face the earth and heaven fled away; and there was found no place for them. And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God; and the books were opened; and another book was opened, which is [the book] of life: and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the books, according to their works. And the sea gave up the dead which were in it; and death and hell delivered up the dead which were in them: and they were judged every man according to their works. And death and hell were cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death. And whosoever was not found written in the book of life was cast into the lake of fire." (REV 20:11-15). Only the saved of the first resurrection will be excluded from this judgment. (REV 20:6).

A book of unsaved works will be opened and the unsaved will be judged "every man according to their works." (REV 20:12, 13, ECC 12:14, ROM 2:5). God's words in the Bible will be the book or standard used for judgment. (JOHN 12:47, 48). The unsaved will be found absent in the book of remembrance (MAL 3:16, 17) and in the book of life. Their names will be removed from the book of life for three reasons: 1.) For sinning against God, Exodus 32:33, 2.) For not being clothed in the righteousness of Christ, Rev. 3:5, and 3.) For taking away from the words of God's prophecy in the Bible, Rev. 22:19.

The Bible indicates that the temperature of the Lake of Fire will be extremely hot, but the bodies of the unsaved will be affected by this torment according to the degree of their individual sins. The Bible account of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abed-nego cast into a fiery furnace indicates that the righteous should have no fear of these flames even if they were to visit Hell. However, God's punishment of the unsaved in Hell will be just and in proportion to their personal choices of wickedness.

Hamlin earns FSU scholarship

Ferris State University students Scott Hamlin of Grayling and Jerold Lamers of Marquette have each received $600 scholarships from the American Production and Inventory Control Society.

Hamlin and Lamers were selected for the APICS scholarships by Ferris' College of Business management department faculty members, according to Joseph C. Rallo, head of the management department.

Dr. Rallo said the APICS awards were given for Hamlin and Lamers to pursue production and inventory management as a career objective, and as an incentive to seek certification and professional development in that field.

Photography contest deadline is December 1

While you're hunting, fishing, or just out for a walk this fall, take along your camera. You might happen upon a shot to enter in the second annual photo contest sponsored by the Crawford-Roscommon Soil and Water Conservation District.

Categories are conservation, agriculture, forestry, landscaping/ gardening, wildlife and wetlands/ shorelines. Deadlines for entries is December 1. Winners will be announced at the district's annual meeting next February. The contest is open to residents of all ages of Crawford and Roscommon counties. Winners will receive prizes and their work will be displayed in various public places.

Color or black-and-white photos taken in Roscommon or Crawford County may be entered. Only one photo may be entered per category, but photographers may enter more than one category. No marking is permitted on the front or back of the photos, which will become the property of the district.

Judging for a total of 18 prizes will be in three age groups. Photographers ages 13 and under may submit any size photo. Those in the 14-18 age category and adults must submit photos at least five by seven inches.

Entry forms and information are available at the district office, 409 Lake Street, Roscommon, telephone 275-5231.

Frederic hosts Hunters' Bake Sale Nov. 20-21

A bake sale to raise funds for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation will be held 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, November 20-21, at the Frederic Hobby Club.

To donate baked goods or volunteer during the sale, call 348-8126.

On to Maturity

The writer of Hebrews' phrase, "let us go on to maturity" (Hebrews 6:1) has meaning for all people, especially that long suffering group of people known as parents. Mark Twain put his finger on what causes parents to suffer when he said,

"When I was fourteen I thought my dad was the most ignorant man in the world. But when I became twenty-one, I was amazed how much the old man had learned in seven short years."

That reality of such an experience not only causes pain in parents, it also produces maturity. Maturity comes from being able to survive some of the frustrations that come from parenting children, especially during teenage years.

Yet, when the children follow Hebrews' advice and "go on to maturity," then the parents experience a growing maturity that comes precisely because they have hung in there with the growing children.

And both children and parents ultimately come to know the joy of being family and more importantly of being a "maturing family."

Bits of Talk

by Fay Bovee

Bud and Jean Joyce spent three weeks on a trip to Singapore and Malaysia. After a long plane trip they had a most interesting time visiting various places. Bud related that Singapore is a most unusual city with no pollution, no unemployment, and some extremely strict laws governing a myriad of things. They were impressed with the cleanliness and modern city. This is the fourth trip they have taken with the same group, many of them retired National Guard friends.

Terry and Judy Dickinson, Ernie

Dawson and Lee Tompkins made a seven-day trip to Santa Domingo in the Dominican Republic to take supplies to two different elementary schools and a hospital. They had collected mostly small children and baby clothing from friends and family in this area for the hospital and along with many donated supplies, such as pencils, chalk, etc. they purchased supplies for the school. Ernie's long-time friends, Dr. and Mrs. Veryl Roth, are missionaries there and it was because of their work there that the group made the trip.

A baby girl was born on September 16, 1992, at Munson Medical Center in Traverse City, to Thane and Julie Doremire of Grayling. Taylor Blaine weighed 6 pounds, 15 ounces and was 21 inches long, and joins her sisters, Nicole and Rachel Anne at home. Grandparents are Tony and Diana Doremire of Grayling, and Terry and Retalou McLeod of Bloomfield Hills, and Howell.

Todd and Carol Bennett of Troy, are proud to announce the arrival of a daughter, Amanda Carol, born October 15, 1992, at St. Joseph Hospital in Mt.

Clemens. She weighed 7 pounds, 2 ounces, and was 19 1/2 inches long. Local grandparents are Neil and Shirley Longworth of Grayling.

Susanne McLaughlin and Sean Mueller, of Grayling, announce the birth of Gwenevere Anne Mueller, born August 19, 1992, at Northern Michigan Hospital in Petoskey.

Local grandparents are Pat McLaughlin and Jon and Susanne Mueller, all of Grayling.

Vikings to celebrate best season ever

The Grayling High School varsity football team will officially end their season Monday, November 30, at an awards banquet. The dinner will be at the Holiday Inn and will cost $8 for adults and $4 for children 6-12. The public is welcome at the dinner, which will begin at 6 p.m. with awards following.

The season was even better than Larkin said he expected.

"We were always optimistic, and we set goals to be champions. We hoped with hard work we would reach these goals, but at the time we thought it was wishful thinking."

Larkin said it was senior leadership and team unity that made the season successful.

"We had a motto, 'We Believe,' and the team really did, they never gave up," Larkin said.

The athletic boosters will be raffling off two game balls at Monday night's banquet.

Bryan Sattler was incorrectly identified in a photo of Grayling Middle School students of the month for October. The Avalanche apologizes for the error.

Cards of thanks

I would like to thank all my relatives and friends for the flowers, cards, prayers, and words of encouragement while I was a patient at Northern Michigan Hospital in Petoskey.

HOW SMART ARE YOU WITH YOUR MONEY?

True or False

1. If you spend your money at big city shopping malls, you will help create jobs in Crawford County and pay wages for people living here?
2. If you buy goods from big city malls, you're helping to support the businesses who donate to Crawford County United Way, the Commission on Aging, local Boy and Girl Scouts, local churches, and dozens of other charitable groups here?
3. When a local business fails, our tax base shrinks and you wind up supporting more of the tax load?
4. Money spent locally flows through our community 7-10 times and strengthens our community. Where you spend your money is an important decision.

(Answers: 1. False 2. False 3. True 4. True)
